WE JOURNEYED AS ONE IN 1983

School district lines in East Baton Rouge Parish had been redrawn, and many students reassigned to different schools. Belaire administrators and faculty members prepared to welcome a new student body.

On opening day former Belaire students joined the newcomers. Numerous roads converged at Bengal Land on that momentous occasion. Those roads were to become a symbol of unity. When the bell rang signaling the beginning of the school year, all those assembled became part of Belaire High School. The journey of oneness began.

Todd,
It's been fun having you in drama. I'm glad I got you this year. Stay sweet & Good Luck In the future.

Bussing Begins A New Bengal Family

Bussing was one of the prime topics of conversation before and during the school year. Federal Judge John Parker of the Fifth District Court ordered a change in school districts. The school gained the Belfair, Eden Park, and Greenville areas, which resulted in an increase of Belaire-serving buses from seventeen to twenty-two. Many students were affected by the changes associated with bussing. The longest bus ride was approximately eight miles for a total of thirty to forty minutes. When asked how the massive bussing affected her, Wanda Augustus replied, "I now have to get up earlier to arrive at my bus stop for 7:05." However, all put aside the inconvenience of bussing and journeyed as one to become a part of the big family Belaire had created. All were proud to be Belaire Bengals.

COMING FROM "THE PARK" AREA, Rolanda Palmer and Barbara Eaton get off the bus.

Signs Of The Times

The signs of Belaire to a new student were like roadmaps to a weary traveler. Amid mass confusion on the first few days of school, students would have been hopelessly lost without hall signs, door numbers, and maps; a map of the school was mailed to each student prior to the first day. Although most students knew where to go, some missed classes and ate on the wrong lunch-shift because of confusion over class locations. Soon students became famaliar with their schedules, and they felt more comfortable with their surroundings.

In addition, there were other signs which aided students. Road signs pointed the way to school. During class elections and SGA elections, posters were displayed on the walls of the corridors, halls, and commons areas to acquaint new students with the candidates. There were also signs to makes students aware of school functions, such as sock hops and the Pantomime Show.

In many ways, good advice for the first few weeks of school could have been to "follow the signs."

Rainbow Cultures

Students from all over the world entered the school. They came all the way from South America, Asia, and Europe. "My family moved here because of political problems," said Vietnamese student Phuong Ma.

Most students came from countries where there was less freedom for teenagers than in the U.S.A. The parents direct their childrens' lives more. "Teenagers under the age of eighteen are not allowed to work after school," said Claudia Caceres from El Salvador.

The students said that American schools are different from the schools in their homelands. In Spain the students start school at nine o'clock and go to twelve. Then they go back to school again at two o'clock and stay there until five. In El Salvador, the teachers are stricter than here, and if a student fails an advanced class, the student will be moved to a lower grade.

Foreign students found other differences. For example, in dating, if a girl wants to go out with a guy in South America, her father has to approve of the guy beforehand.

Despite the differences parents of the students who moved here have changed to the American way of life. Most of our foreign students think that America and Americans are wonderful, and they do not want to move back to their homeland.

The Changing Journey

Yes, the 1982-83 school year brought change. The school district was altered; nevertheless, students old and new journeyed together in all the functions of the school.

Many students not only had to attend a full day of school, but also chose to cope with jobs. These students' work day sometimes ranged from three to five hours. This did not leave much time for homework and studies. Though many parents did not approve of their children working on school days, the number of jobs acquired by students did not decrease. Many students worked for extra spending money during the holiday season; others worked for experience to use in future jobs. The days for these students were quite hectic, but somehow all managed to cope with the pressure of school and having a job except Billy Jenkins who said, "I ain't gonna make it!"

Getting Malled

BOBBY MIZELL plays Kangaroo in Space Port.

Going to the mall was a favorite pastime of students. There were several reasons for going to the mall, including to work, to eat, to shop, to be entertained, and just to have a good time. Corn Dog, Piccadilly, Mama Brava's, and Los Amigo's were only a few of the eating places found at Cortana and Bon Marche malls. Space Port, Silver Mine, Aladdin's Castle, and the cinemas provided much entertainment. There were quite a few department stores for the avid shopper, such as Sears, Goudcha Holmes, and Dillard's. For the well-dressed individual, RFD, Todd Garland, T. Edwards, and the Oak Tree provided classy attire. As anyone could see, there were a variety of activities in the two nearby malls. Why, then, did parents always ask, "Why do you want to go to the mall?"

Students Work For The Weekend

A pop song that hit the charts in the summer of '82 very well described the students of Belaire. The title of the song is "Working for the Weekend." A weekend might begin with a date to a sockhop and a pizza place afterward. The following morning the students might go to work or spend time with club activities. Going to the movies or a concert and then to McDonald's also was popular. The most popular places to go were Bennigan's restaurant and Don Carter's bowling alley. The students, however, still had to find time to prepare their homework for Monday.

The Horror Hop

"Trick or Treat!" was what many young children were saying on November 1. But students at Belaire were chanting the familiar tunes of rock songs instead. Many attended the Halloween sockhop. The dance was a masquerade dance with a ten-dollar winner for best costume. Ricky Pugsley, the chairman of the committee, led in the decorating of the activity room. The members of the National Honor Society, the dance sponsor, wore costumes to put everyone in the festive mood.

Court Of Dwali

When homecoming week arrived, the students elected girls to the court. Ten girls were chosen, two from each of the underclasses and four from the senior class.

Vanessa Faye Signater reigned as Rani of Dwali (homecoming queen), and the remaining nine girls made up the court. Vanessa said, "Being queen was a great honor, especially since I had never been on the court before."

As in previous years, the court watched the homecoming game from the sidelines, and they were later recognized at the homecoming dance.

Homecoming Busy, Exciting Time

Homecoming was a busy, exciting time. The student body worked hard to make the homecoming an outstanding one. The football team prepared for the game as the students selected the court, worked on floats, and prepared for the dance. The hard work paid off; homecoming was a success. The team defeated Hammond 42-6. The students selected ten girls for the court. The junior class had the winning float. The dance was a winner, and Vanessa Faye Signater was crowned queen.

"Parents Dedicate New Building

In October, thirty-eight students and faculty members helped Capital City Press to dedicate it production center on Bluebonnet Road.

Shannon Furlow, S.G.A. president, gave a short speech in dedicating two trees — the "Bo Tree," named after a school publication, and the "Bengal Tree." Mr. Manship, publisher of the State-Times and Morning Advocate newspapers, received the trees as a token of thanks for the assistance the publishing company has given the school through the school adoption program. After the school's adoption the previous year, Belaire personnel often referred to Capital City Press as "parents."

Food For Thought

In the lull of the first hour silence, drowsy students were brought to life by the cheerful voice of Belaire's own Coach Simcoe. The day's events were reported promptly and precisely. The most enjoyable portion of the announcements perhaps was the menu for the day. Drab, ordinary food was transformed into juicy, delectable dishes by emotion-filled "Ummm's" and "Aahh's." An occasional "south of the border" or "homemade" added a touch of culture. Recommendations by students and teachers attracted students to the once dull cafeteria.

"May I Have A Check-Out Slip?"

Everyday, students checked into school late. The average check-in rate was forty persons per day. The number of check-outs was surprisingly lower with an average of thirty people. The most common excuse used was illness. Some students checked out for religious reasons, such as attending mass.

Friendships Form

The journey brought together many people and led to many new friendships as well as the continuation of old ones. Both students and faculty members contributed to a spirit of togetherness that resulted in a feeling of pride in being a part of Belaire. In the classrooms and all around the commons and hallways, friendships formed and blossomed!

The roar by the crowds in the stands at football and basketball games was led by ten girls with the spunk and spirit of a hundred. These dedicated people supported the teams and the school by sponsoring activities such as the Boys' Beauty Pageant. They made signs and decorated the boys' locker room. There was a certain special friendship among these girls.

Cheerleader sponsor was Mrs. Lacey. She was responsible for organizing the girls' activities and helping them with their routines.

A Touch Of Fashion

Walking down the halls, one could see a wide variety of fashions. Common sights were the casual everyday look of slacks and blouses, the preppy look with plaid shirts, izod shirts, knee socks, top siders, and the new wave look with mini skirts and leg warmers. Perhaps the style that stood out the most was the new punk look which consisted of punk hair cuts, untucked shirts, bandanas, and safety pins that were worn on the outside of blouses for decoration. Though many of these so-called fashions may have been just fads that come and go, the ever popular jeans and T-shirts it seemed were here to stay.

Selling Items

"Snickers, Snickers, get your Snickers here, just fifty cents each!" There wasn't a day passed that such words couldn't be heard echoing through the halls. Students sold everything from candy to T-shirts. Many clubs and organizations sold items to finance their trips.

Students were always willing to try the unusual to raise money. There were such activities as donkey basketball games, and girls' and boys' beauty pageants. The annual talent and pantomime shows also brought in funds for sponsoring organizations. Even though no one became a millionaire, everyone had a wonderful time.

Bengalettes Strut Their Stuff

The Bengalettes consisted of eighteen girls headed by Missy Nielson, Faye Signater, and Michelle Leland. The Bengalettes performed at ten football games and at least six home basketball games. Throughout the year they also contributed to many spirited activities such as making spirit bags, selling spirit tags and pins, decorating the football players' lockers, cheering the players on at games, and performing at pep rallies. Despite having thirteen new dancers, the Bengalettes performed with confidence and talent. This was the third year for the Bengalettes under the supervision of Mrs. Jenkins.

Mass Confusion

Hundreds of students faced the horror of going to a new school in 1982. They had never dreamed that they would have to change schools again. However, the bussing order couldn't be changed, and there was nothing that they could do about it. Their fears were soon put to an end when they entered the doors to Belaire. The people were friendlier than they had expected, and the halls were color coded so that their classes were easier to find. As the school year went on, the halls became more than just a passageway to and from class, but also a meeting place for friends. This often made the halls more congested than Florida Blvd. at 5:00 p.m. They soon found the commons area and the halls were once again the passageways to knowledge.

Sparetime Activities

To many people their day was not over with the ringing of the two o'clock bell. Students stayed after school each day for such things as football practice, basketball practice, and other sports activities. In addition, club members often worked on their projects until after three o'clock. The campus remained a busy place until well in the afternoon with students staying for many reasons.

Moving . . . Right Along

Cars, trucks, bicycles, and feet provided ways of getting to school for students and teachers. Usually the parking lots were so crowded that some students ended up parking on the grass. The school provided a special area for the parking of bicycles. Our school definitely was in the fast lane and moving right along.

Grading System Changed

The grading system was changed for the 1982-83 school year. At the end of the sixth and twelfth weeks, students received progress reports, and at the end of each semester, a report card.

Some students like the new procedure better than the old one. "I get to know how my grades are doing more often," said Lisa LeBlanc. But others did not like it. "I hate it because we students have to keep up with our grades for a longer time," said a student in the hall.

Cokes, Chips, And Phones

Every day at least one hundred students rushed to the concession stand to purchase their favorite refreshments. Anything and everthing was available, ranging from soft drinks to nachos. The lines were long, and in many cases it was almost impossible to get to the front. Since candy and soft drinks were banned from the rest of the school, students would line the hall leading to the gym to eat their food. The students didn't seem to mind as long as they had something to munch on.

Every morning the constant rush to make it to school on time caused some students to forget a textbook, notebook, or gym clothes at home. That was when phones became very important. The phones were used for more than just forgotten books. After school the freshman and sophomore athletes used them to call for a ride. The concession stand and the phones were not often appreciated; however, when students came to think of school without them, they realized how much the concession and telephones meant to them.

Homework Not At Home

AT HOME seems to be the least common place for students to do their homework.

The majority of the student body seemed to want to do their homework anywhere but at home. A person easily could have taken a walk throughout the school and observed students sitting down doing their homework or studying for a test of some sort. During lunch breaks students did their homework in the front commons, back commons, by the concession stand, or in the halls alone or with friends. Some students even did homework in classes when free time was available. Therefore, by the looks of things, students were eager to get their homework done just about anywhere at school so that they would not have much to take home.

Entertainment Features

One very different and exciting activity attended by many students was the donkey basketball game. Students were amused as classmates and teachers competed in the hilarious event. Though the teachers outscored the students, the real victors appeared to be the donkeys as they kicked and threw off the competitors who usually landed face down on the court.

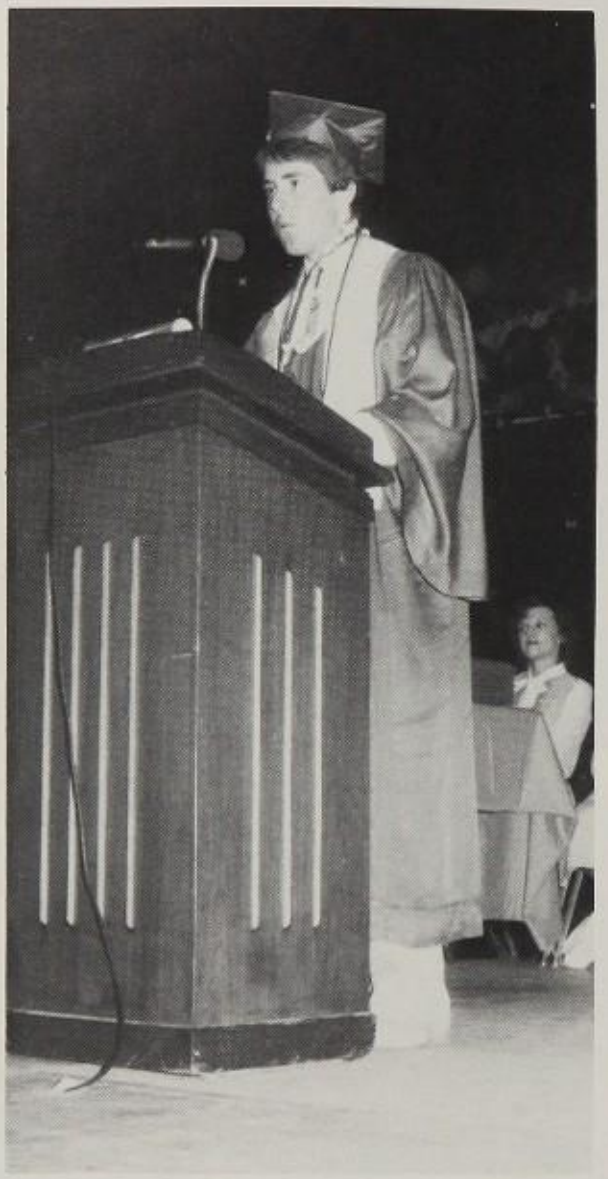
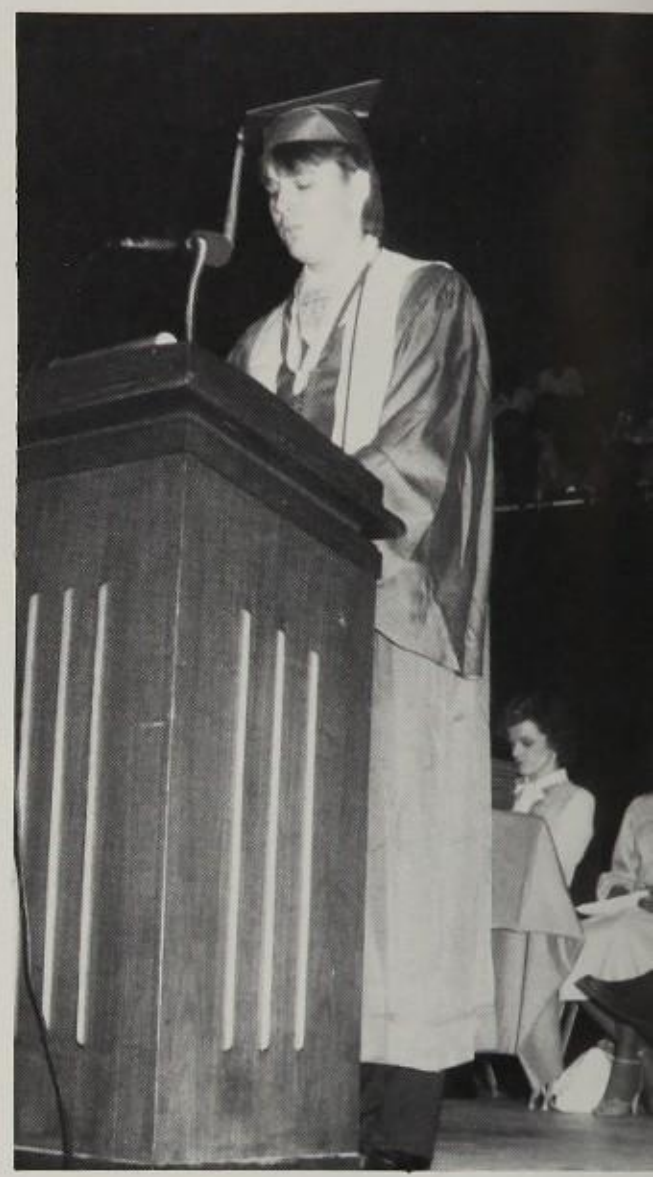
MELISSA HALL receives the Principal's Award.

Future Depends On Graduates

Graduation was held May 26 at the LSU Assembly Center. The valedictorian was Billy Bush, who stated that the world in the future would depend on those students who had graduated. John Sanchez, salutatorian, compared the reality and dreams of life with the reality and dreams of movies. Linda Rush and Johnny Cowart sang "Up Where We Belong," the senior class song.



BILLY BUSH gives valedictory speech.



JOHN SANCHEZ speaks as salutatorian.

CINDY CHAMBERS and JOSEPH CHAN exit after graduation.

BRETT ANTOLINE receives a congratulatory hug.

STEVE EASLEY, MIKE FEDORSIN, STEVE FERGUSON, and KENDALL FEALING are proud to have received their diplomas.

LAUREN DALCOURT and THRETHA BLACK make last minute preparations.

TRESSCIA BRYANT, CAROL MONTGOMERY, and STACY MONCEAUX begin the ceremony.

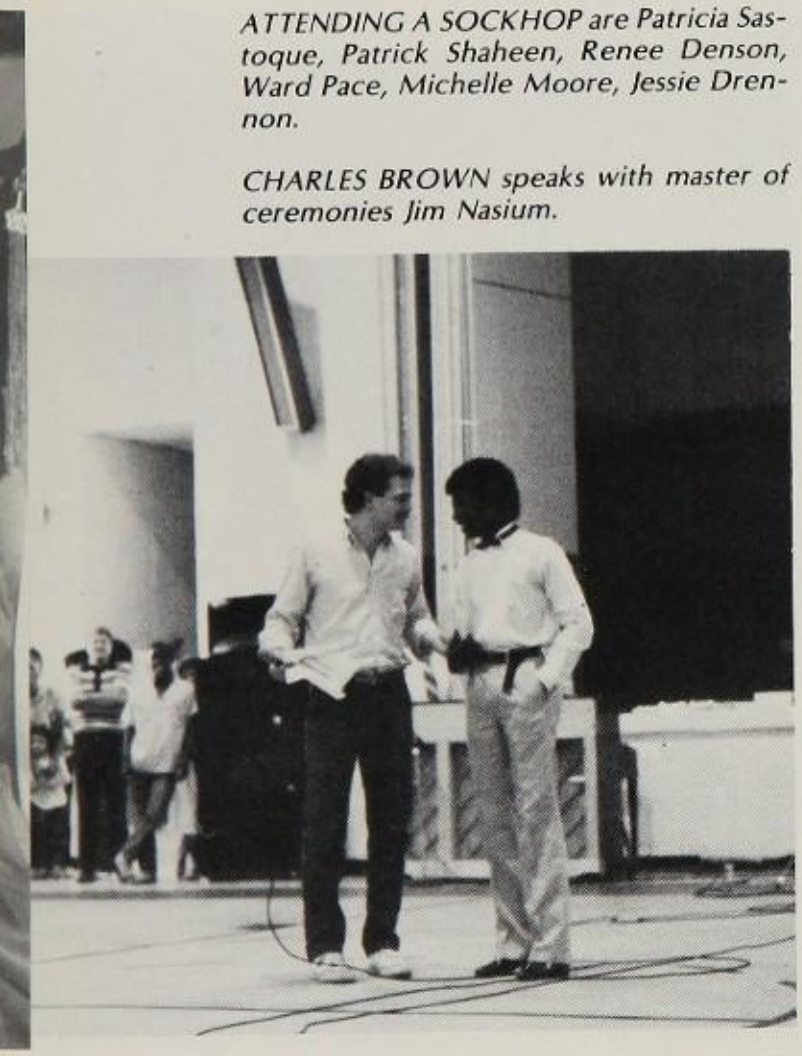
Events Provide Change Of Pace

Keeping entertained was accomplished with events such as talent shows, teacher-student ball games, sockhops, and fashion shows. COE and the Beta Club held a schoolwide talent show. The Drama department put on one-act plays. The shows and events not only gave a welcome change for the students, but they also provided funds for club activities.

CARLA HOPKINS models a bridal gown.

ATTENDING A SOCKHOP are Patricia Sastoque, Patrick Shaheen, Renee Denson, Ward Pace, Michelle Moore, Jessie Drennon.

CHARLES BROWN speaks with master of ceremonies Jim Nasium.



PAUL RAIFORD and ANGELA BEATTY fill in for Kenny Rogers and Shena Easton.

Senior Officers Unite Class

The senior officers were involved in many activities during the year. At the beginning of the year, they distributed T-shirts from Capital City Press to all of the seniors. They also assisted Josten's with the ordering of senior supplies. Mrs. Alford, the senior sponsor, was aided by the officers in many projects. They worked hard to plan graduation and the senior prom. The senior class benefited tremendously from the work of their officers.

Mega Bucks

Money seemed to be an important problem facing the seniors. Twenty dollar dues had to be paid in order for a person to receive his diploma and join in the festivities of the prom. Graduation supplies included memory books, senior keys, graduation gowns, and invitations. One large portion of a senior's paycheck was used to purchase graduation photos. All of these things added up; in addition money was needed for other things, such as clothes, movies, concerts, and junk food. Some students worked to pay for all of this; some others got money from their parents. In either case, seniors needed "mega bucks."

Senior Trips

Whether they were lying on a sandy Florida beach or dancing in the Neptune on the Amerikanis cruise ship, the seniors all enjoyed their senior trips. The trip was a time to relax, have fun, and forget about the hassles of Free Enterprise, Physics, and Advanced Composition. Most seniors took their trips at the end of the school year, but the Beta Club seniors went to the Bahamas during the Thanksgiving holidays. Senior trips were special because they were an activity reserved only for seniors.

INVASION

It invades the school each year. This contagious disease which lasts for nine months has been diagnosed by many of the teachers. A survey revealed that other schools have it also. However, it only affects one-fourth of the student body. Those students which contract the illness show such symptoms as daydreaming, spending less time on homework, and talking constantly of graduation. They start working after school to build their savings accounts; the money is not intended for college, however. The disease is not over until the seniors reach their destination. It is a well-know fact that Florida holds the cure to the disease-SENIORITIS.

Busy Year

Being a senior meant having many priviledges; along with the fun, however, came responsibilities. With graduation only months away, the seniors had to order invitations, caps, and gowns. They took part in old traditions of picking a class song, flower, and motto. The song chosen was "Up Where We Belong" and the flower was the American Beauty rose. Senior year was a fun year, but it was a busy one also.

Juniors On The Move

The junior class was very active. They occupied their time with studying, spending time with friends, and just plain having fun. In the fall many juniors were busy attending junior meetings to prepare for the weekly pep rallies. The junior class was often the loudest and most spirited in supporting the football team. During the winter months many juniors were seen at the basketball games offering much support and enthusiasm As the year wore on, their thoughts were centered on the main event of their junior year-the Junior-Senior Prom.

Sophomores had a fun year participating in sockhops, homecoming, peprallies, and other school activities; but as their sophomore year ended, they found themselves looking forward to the summer. They planned trips with their families and friends.

One of the most popular classes was Driver's Education. This course taught the sophomores to drive as well as to observe highway manners. There were no accidents in Driver's Education, so it might be said that the sophomores had a successful year.

Freshmen Largest Class

The freshman class of '83 had almost four hundred members, making it the largest class of the year as well as the largest in the school's history. The ninth grade students participated in varied activities from school work to sports, and their class goals ended as one — to be the best while having fun.

The freshmen were full of spirit, ambition, and determination. They seemed to enjoy turning academics, athletics, and any other form of work into fun. Their attitudes might be summarized as follows: "We'll be gettin' our kicks in eighty-six."

ARE THESE STUDENTS typical freshmen?

Principals Maintain Student Contact

Principal Dan Wingate and assistant principals Bryan Vaughn and Millie Williams maintained close contact with student life. Their primary concerns were academic needs, and they had to weigh each decision accordingly. Their office doors were open to students who went to the principals for help in solving personal difficulties or in planning student activities.

The principals did not limit themselves to their offices, however. They often mingled with students in the halls, visited classrooms, and attended school functions after regular hours. Students respected the principals and viewed them as friends who were ready to listen and to help. They enforced the rules and held the student body accountable for violations, but they were just as quick to praise the students for good behavior and outstanding achievement.

MR. WINGATE pauses at a library table where Charles Eberly and Toviea Briston work on an assignment.

MR. VAUGHN apparently finds being besieged by Sheri Cook, Steve Webb, Stacy Monceaux, and Cindy Cook amusing.

WE JOURNEYED AS ONE IN ACADEMICS

MISS BYNUM'S Biology class takes notes on lesson.

Calculating

The mathematics program at Belaire was well adapted to the education of all students. For the college-bound student, the curriculum consisted of Algebra I, Geometry, Algebra II, and Advanced Math. Calculus was offered for the first time under the direction of Mr. Calcote, head of the math department. For the student who was not planning to attend college, Math I and II satisfied graduation requirements. Students used the formulas and concepts they learned in their math courses to calculate problems where a knowledge of applied arithmetic is essential.

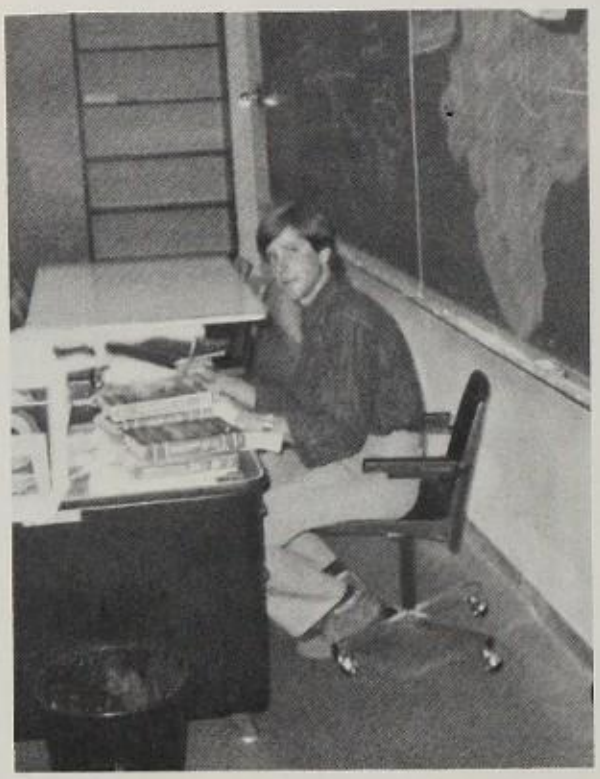
MRS. WILKES, pictured right, retired at she end of the year. A teacher for twenty-eight years, Mrs. Wilks said, "The experience of being a member of the first faculty of a new school is every teacher's dream. When Belaire High opened its doors nine years ago, this dream became my reality. It was a real challenge but most enjoyable. I am grateful to everyone at Belaire who helped our traditions take root and grow into one of the best schools in academic achievement and extra-curricular activities. I am proud to have had a part in its development. It has been a very rewarding experience. I'll miss Belaire. I will not say 'goodbye', but rather, 'au revoir' and warmest wishes for continued success to an outstanding faculty and student body."

MRS. MCFARLAND helps Kevin Calbert with a math problem.

EXPLAINING AN ALGEBRA PROBLEM is Mrs. Toston.

COACH WYLY teaches Consumer Math.

WAITING FOR THE TARDY BELL TO RING is Mr. Calcote, head of the Math department.



Discovering

Whether they were reading a short-story or performing an experiment, students in Science and Reading courses were always discovering new ideas and concepts.

There were many assorted courses offered at Belaire in Science. The two required classes were General Science for ninth-graders and Biology for tenth-graders. Students especially interested in Science could study even further in courses such as Biology II, Chemistry, and Physics.

The reading curriculum consisted of classes ranging from Reading and Writing Lab to Literary Analysis.

MS. ROGERS shows Larry Baggett a Biology chart.

TEACHING A CLASS is Mrs. Singleton.

MRS. WILLIAMS chats with student, Tony Accardo.

WATCHING HER CLASS WORK is Mrs. Mulhearn.

MS. CARTER helps Mark Green with his English.

MR. MANLEY, Industrial Arts teacher, patrols the parking lot.

Expressing

Whether students were writing an English paper, speaking in a foreign language, drawing pictures, or acting on stage, they were all doing one thing — expressing themselves.

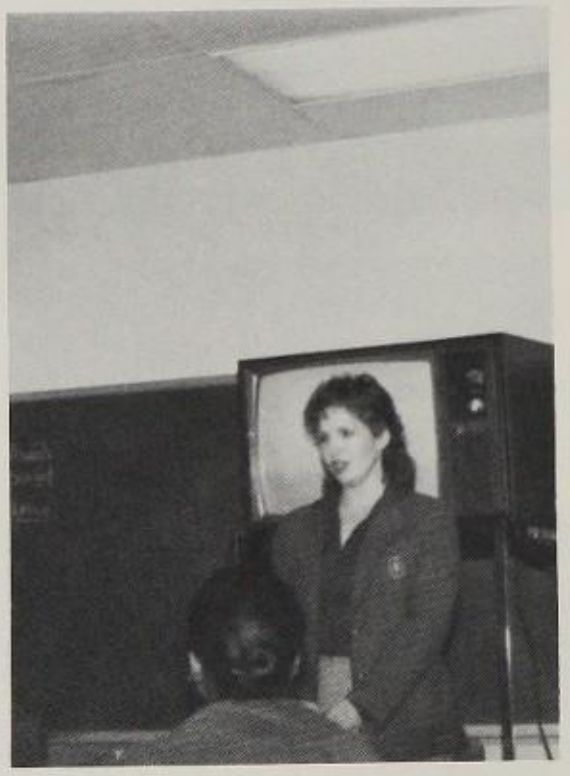
For example, the drama department put on several one-act plays, and Children's Theater was the department's most time consuming activity.

The French Club and several invited guests spent four fun-filled days in Canada over the Easter holidays.

Several Art courses were taught, including Introduction to Art, Fine Arts Appreciation, and Multi-Media painting.

Among the English classes offered were Intermediate Grammar, Advanced Language Usage Skills, and Advanced Composition.

Each of the above courses helped the students to put their ideas and feelings in visible form



MS. COUVILLION uses a video to aid her drama students.

THE ARTS AND CRAFTS CLASS finds constructive projects to work on.

MRS. STERLING shows Keith Elie and Wilbert Hawkins an art demonstration.

MRS. AYRES, choir teacher, works with Charles Fields, Paul Davis, and Tommy Webb.

Harmonizing

Two school groups, the band and the choir, helped to add harmony to the school. Both organizations were involved in many events.

The choir's most outstanding activity was the performance of the musical "Oklahoma." Choir members worked hard to make it a success. The group also attended the L.S.U. Choir Festival. At the end of the year, they traveled to Florida.

The Belaire Lancer Band provided pep rally and football game entertainment. They also played for the fifth annual Great River Road Run, and attended the Parish Band Festival, where they had a score of excellent.

The music department had a busy year, and all of their activities helped keep the school "in tune."

PRACTICING WITH THE CHOIR is Mrs. Ayres.

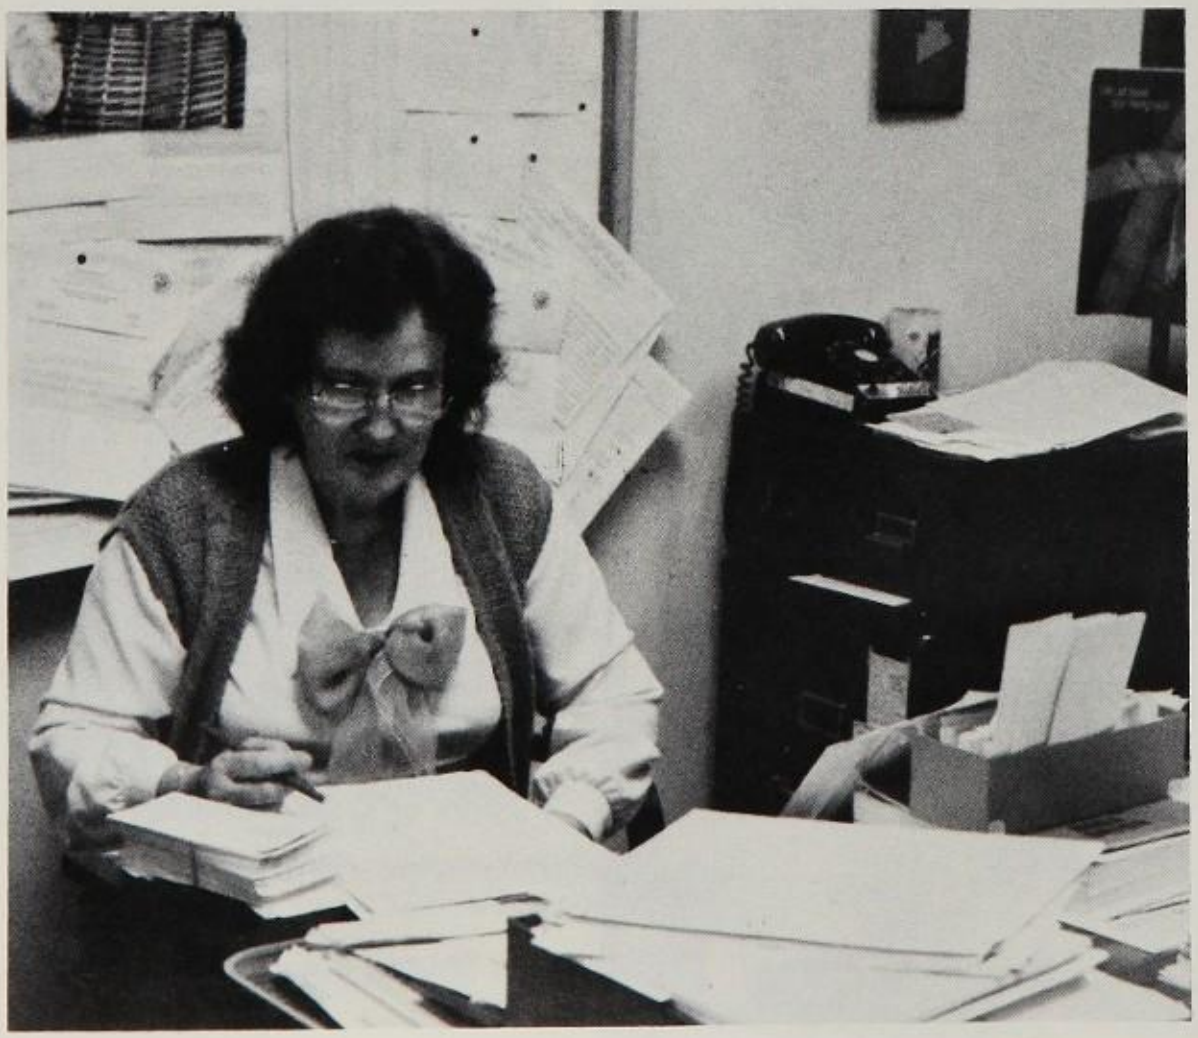
MR. FRAZIER shows his skill at conducting.

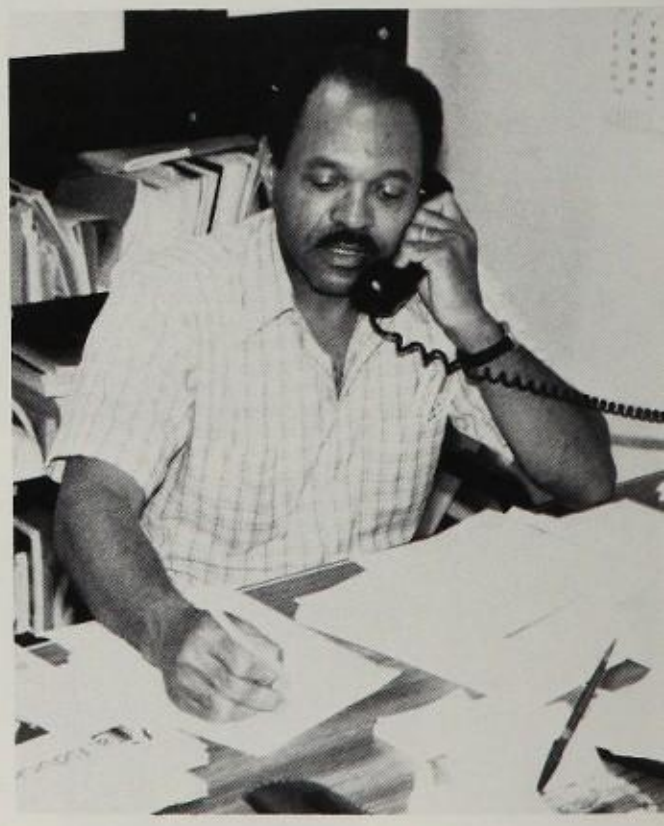
WORKING WITH THE BAND is Mr. Frazier.

Helping

Two departments of the school were concerned with helping people. The guidance office provided assistance for students in career planning, college information, and personal problem solving. Another department where help was provided was through the Nursing and Health Occupations class. Under the instruction of Mrs. Tassin, the students worked at several nearby hospitals to help the sick. Helping one another became an important part of the Belaire family.

SHOWING A SKELETON to Patti Pullam, Wendy Tubb, David Decuir, and Uyen Ma is Mrs. Tassin.





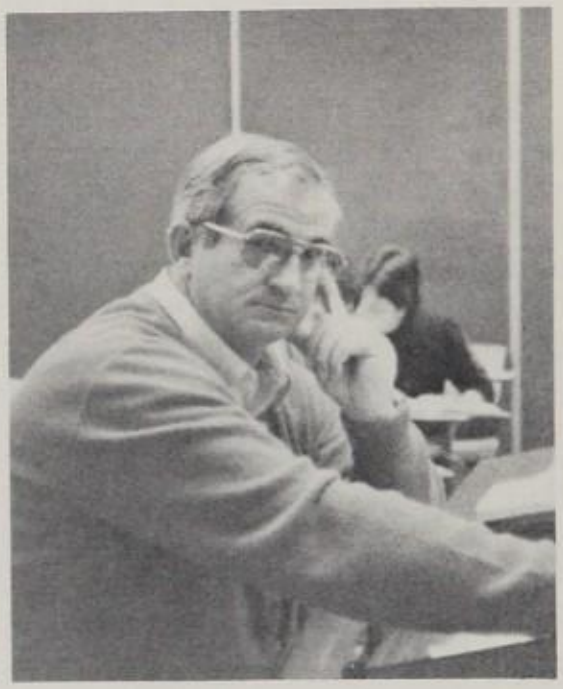
MRS. COX works as a junior guidance counselor.

MR. FLEMING talks on the telephone in his work as a tenth grade counselor.

MRS. SPENCE works with a few students in her Fashion and Interior Design class.

WORKING WITH HER HUMANITIES CLASS is Mrs. Keaton.

MR. PARRISH teaches Geography.



Relating

A few courses were concerned with helping the students to relate. Such classes as Home Economics, Fashion and Interior Design, and Sociology helped the students relate from a social standpoint. Other classes such as Free Enterprise and World Geography informed the students in a historical way.

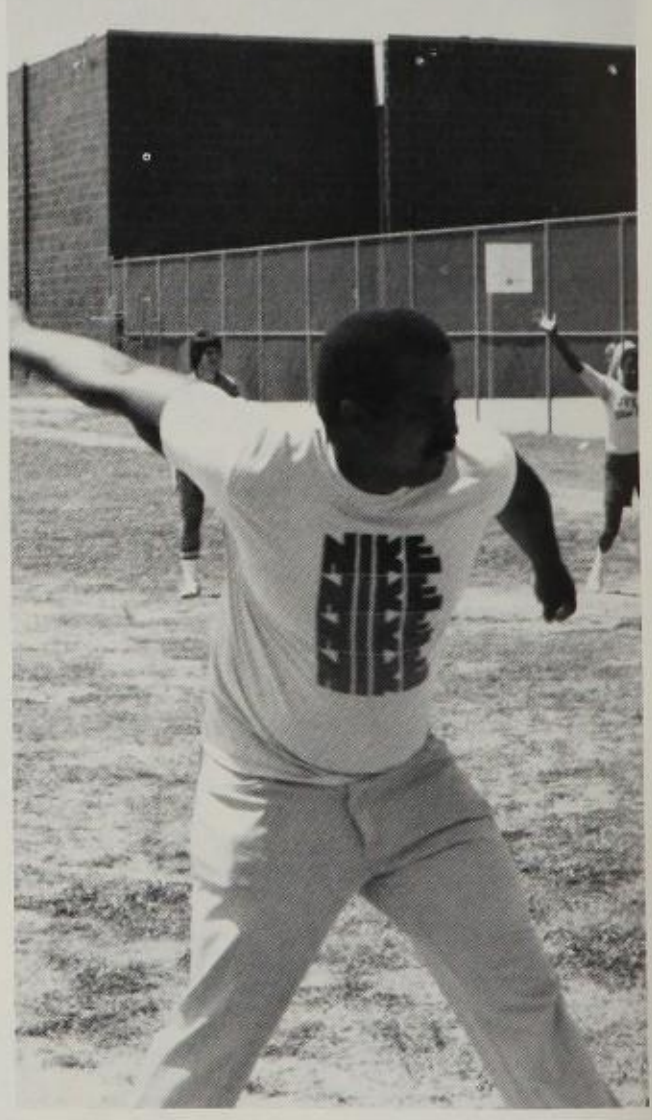
MISS WARNER discusses American History with her students.

Sweating

For two years out of a person's high school years, he was required to spend one hour a day playing volleyball, softball, or football or participating in some form of physical activity. The P.E. classes were co-ed, but the students did have a choice of which type of sports they would rather be in. Some of the categories were Fall Team Sports, Spring Team Sports, and Aerobics. No matter which group they were in, it was certain that all students worked up a sweat.

WORKING UP A SWEAT is Duan Fort.

MRS. BRIGGS oversees her P.E. class.



COACH HESS chats with two students.

WINDING UP is Coach Brown.

Training

Many training courses were taught to help prepare students for their future careers. The Business Education department provided training for specific job skills in many areas. A wide range of courses were offered including Distributive Education, Typing, Shorthand, Bookkeeping, and Clerical Practice. Some classes trained students to work with machines, such as Computer Programming, Small Gas Engines. Other courses trained students to do things like respect authority in ROTC and respect the rules of the road in Driver's Education. All of these many different classes helped the students to prepare for the future.

MRS. JENKINS teaches a typing class.

RALPH HENDERSON works in typing.

Working hard in Mrs. Tull's class is Cedrick Smith.

JOHNNY LASTRAPES and Mr. Morrissette work on a lawnmower.

WORKING IN MR. MIXON'S CLASS is Frank Cano.

Drama Club Plays To Large Audiences

The Natya Drama Club took on several projects, including the Children's Theater production of Rudyard Kipling's Kim. The three casts played to over 2800 elementary school children. Among plays produced were Dear Ruth, a full-length play performed by the Play Production class, and Stolen Identity, a one-act play performed before the student body by the Methods and Styles of Acting class.

The fall and spring pantomime shows were popular with the student body. Drama students performed pantomimes to such popular songs as "Beat It," "We've Got Tonight," "Mickey," and "Affair of the Heart."

Several one-act plays were performed during the spring semester. The year ended with the introduction to Drama class performing in Shakespeare Day. Several students performed scenes from Shakespeare's plays, and others gave reports, danced, and presented special projects.

LYNELLE SMITH and MARK SCARDINA perform "Up Where We Belong" at pantomime show.

Footballers Explode Onto Field

The Belaire Bengals exploded onto the field offensively and defensively. In their first three outings the defense allowed only 19 points compared to the 47 points scored by the offense.

The Bengals and the Redemptrist Wolves put their undefeated titles on the line when they met. The Bengals had their hands full with the Wolves. It was an even ball game down to the end. The game went into overtime before a crowd of 3,500 or more. The Bengals lost the game by one point.

The following week Belaire came back with revenge and scored a 31-0 win over the Glen Oaks Panthers. The Bengals knocked off their next three opponents, and were closing in on their first play-off berth. It was off to the Covington Cow Palace, where the Bengals dropped their second game 20-28, followed by yet another loss to Baker. The footballers later found out that the loss would keep them out of the play-offs.

Needless to say, the players were angry. The following week they faced Hammond. The fighting Bengals were not about to lose again, especially at their homecoming. They roared onto the field that night with one intention — to beat Hammond. They succeeded by a 42-6 score.

Volleyball Teamwork

Volleyball is considered by many as a sport for the beach. However, there are thousands of schools around the country with volleyball teams. Among those thousands there are only a handful who can work together as a team effectively. Belaire would have ranked high among them if a list had been made.

Unlike some other teams, the girls played as a team instead of a bunch of persons falling over one another trying to hit the ball. They realized the necessity of teamwork in order to have a winning season. The season had its ups and downs, but mostly ups. The Lady Bengals finished the season tied for third in district.

Three players made all-district. They were Julie Clark, Molli McCormick, and Stacy Monceaux.

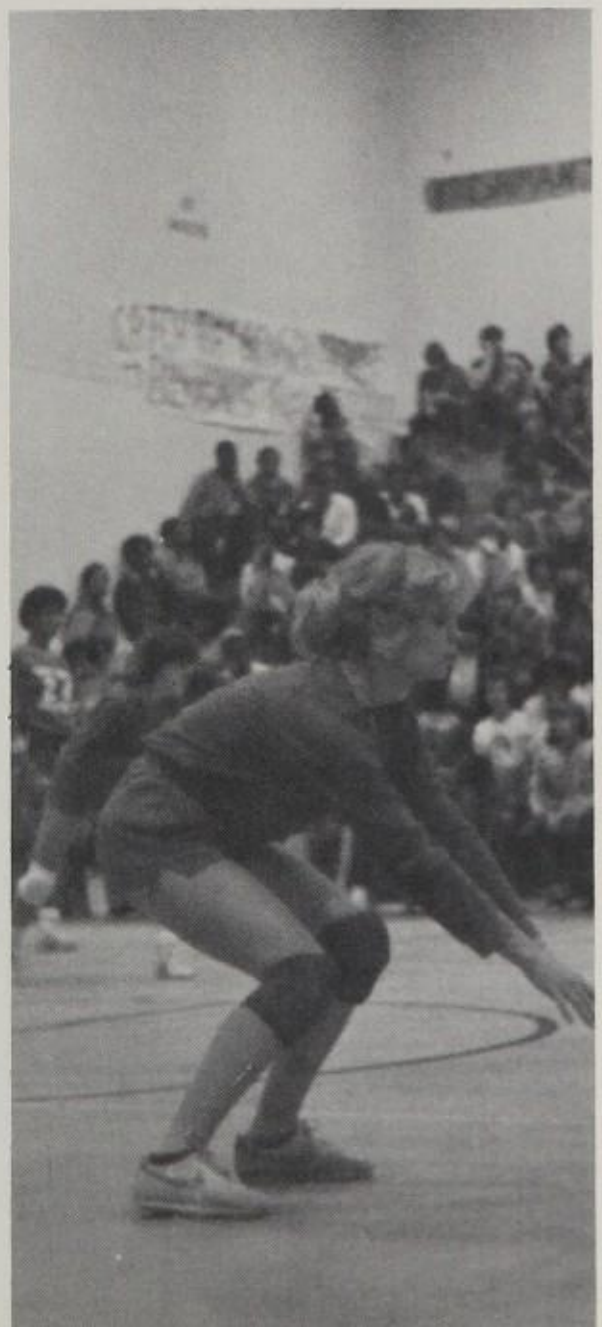
THE LIMITS ARE ENDLESS as to how far some will go to win a game.



CINDY COOKS eagerly awaits for the ball to come her way.

The Spikers

Summer was still in the air when the JV volleyball team hit the court. Many of the girls were excited about playing high school volleyball for the first time. They went through many hours of practice before their first game, during which time they were able to become familiar with each other's playing ability. By the time of the first game, they had become a team that excelled at spiking the ball. During the season the fans went crazy watching eight players who could spike and work together like pros.

Junior Varsity

The JV basketball team had many acquired strong points such as speed and agility, which led to a highly successful season. They also had a natural advantage of height over most other teams. The team finished with a 15-2 over-all record and a very satisfied Coach Wyly.

Girls' Basketball

The girls' basketball team had a short but very productive season. Finishing 14-7 overall and third in district, they faced perhaps the most difficult district in the state. MVP Angela Thompson led the explosive offense that upset many top opponents. Seniors Yvette Narcisse, Julie Clark, and Angela Thompson left the next year's honors to Jeanne DiVittorio, Jane Bellue, and Gina Cahal.

Cross Country

The cross country team underwent many grueling six to eight mile workouts in preparation for all meets. For the girls Maria Stewart, Denise Utz, and Julie Clark helped the team with several top-ten individual finishes. For the boys Trent Williams provided the spark. He was the only boy to qualify for state.

TARA MASCIULLI has a lot of competition in the district cross country meet.

Wrestling Scores High

The wrestling team won all but one of the dual meets. The overall results of the season's dual meets were ten wins and one loss. In the Lee High Invitational, Erik Ketelsen was one of two local wrestlers to receive titles. He decisioned Redemptorist's Pat Guidry 5-1, which brought Belaire to fourth, edging out Baker. Belaire placed highest among Baton Rouge schools.

The Fifth Annual Belaire High School Christmas Wrestling Tournament was designated as the James Ballard Memorial. Ballard was Coach Dale Ketelsen's father-in-law, who had died recently from multiple sclerosis. A plaque was presented to Mr. Ballard's wife in memory of her late husband. The proceeds from the tournament were donated to the Louisiana Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Senior Bryant Williams conquered McKinley's Thomas Grant 6-2 to claim the top heavyweight spot in the Christmas meet. Ketelsen pushed out Wilson Landry of Carencro, to take top spot in the 185 weight class. He received Most Valuable Wrestler of the upper weight classes. After the season he was named to the All-American team.

Tennis

Even though small in number, the members of the tennis team put forth tremendous effort. Two persons had particularly good individual records. Holly McKenzie and Molli McCormick both won six out of ten matches. These young ladies went to the regional meet where they placed second in girls' doubles. They proceeded on to the state meet where they placed third in the same event.

Girls' Track

The girls' track team was perhaps the most successful yet. They not only took first places in district, but they also won the Woodlawn meet and placed second in the Episcopal competition. Many records from previous years fell.

Angela Thompson set the record in the shot put with a throw of 35'4". She also went on to regionals in the shot put. Gina Cahal set the record in the high jump with a leap of 5'2". The mile relay team set a record of 4:22. Its members included Gina Cahal, Denise Smith, Angela Thompson, and Yvette Narcisse. They too went on to regionals accompanied by the 880 relay team of Mona Myles, Denise Smith, Gina Cahal, and Tara Mascuilli. Tara went to regionals in the 100 and 220. Denise Utz broke the record in the mile with a time of 5:44.

District Champs

The baseball players came to hit, and hit they did. The team claimed the 7-AAAA championship after working hard all season for this title. Five of the members made the all-district team. They were shortstop Brent Meaux, pitcher Shane Rube, third baseman Ken Singleton, outfielder Buddy Williams, and second baseman Walter Lee Hughes. Pitcher Glen Clark made the second team.

Shane Rube was the team's most valuable player. He batted .413 in district, drove in 13 runs, had a 7-1 pitching record, and posted a 0.96 ERA. Overall, Rube hit .384, drove in 32 runs, pitched a 12-4 season, had a 1.19 ERA, and struck out 83 batters.

The district batting averages and runs batted in for all-district infielders were as follows: Walter Hughes, .395 and 13; Brent Meaux, .439 and 7; Ken Singleton, .310 and 7. The one all-district outfielder was Buddy Williams with .563 and 10. Overall, he showed a .473 batting average, 8 homers, and 28 RBI's.

Lady Bengals Qualify For State

The Lady bengals went 17-5 for the season and qualified for the state tournament with a 9-3 record in district. In the state play-off, the girls lost to John Ehret, the eventual state champion.

Jane Bellue pitched 16 games during the season, winning 12 while allowing only 17 hits. Jeanne DiVittorio had a 5 and 1 season record.

The Lady Bengals were well represented on the all-district teams. Making the first team were Lainee Bailey, second base; Jeanne DiVittorio, first base; and Jenni Wilson, outfield. The all-district second team included Jane Bellue, pitcher; Julie Clark, shortstop; Lezlie Matthews, catcher; and Dawn Rube, third base.

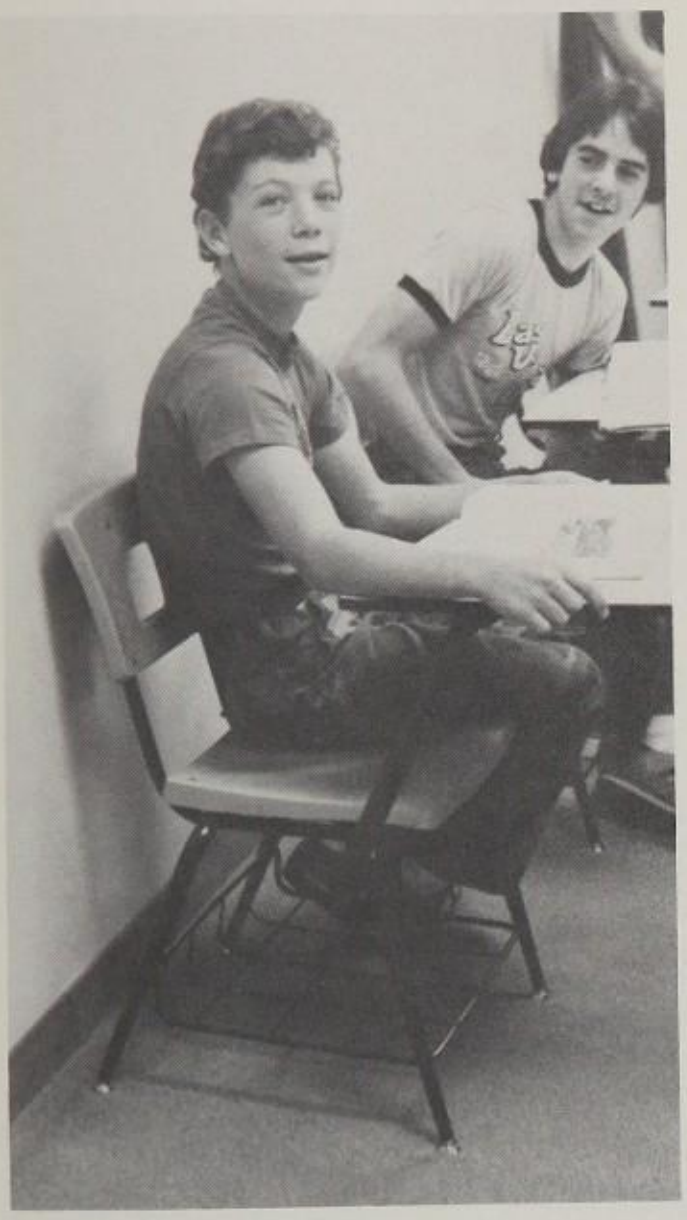
Journey A Memorable One

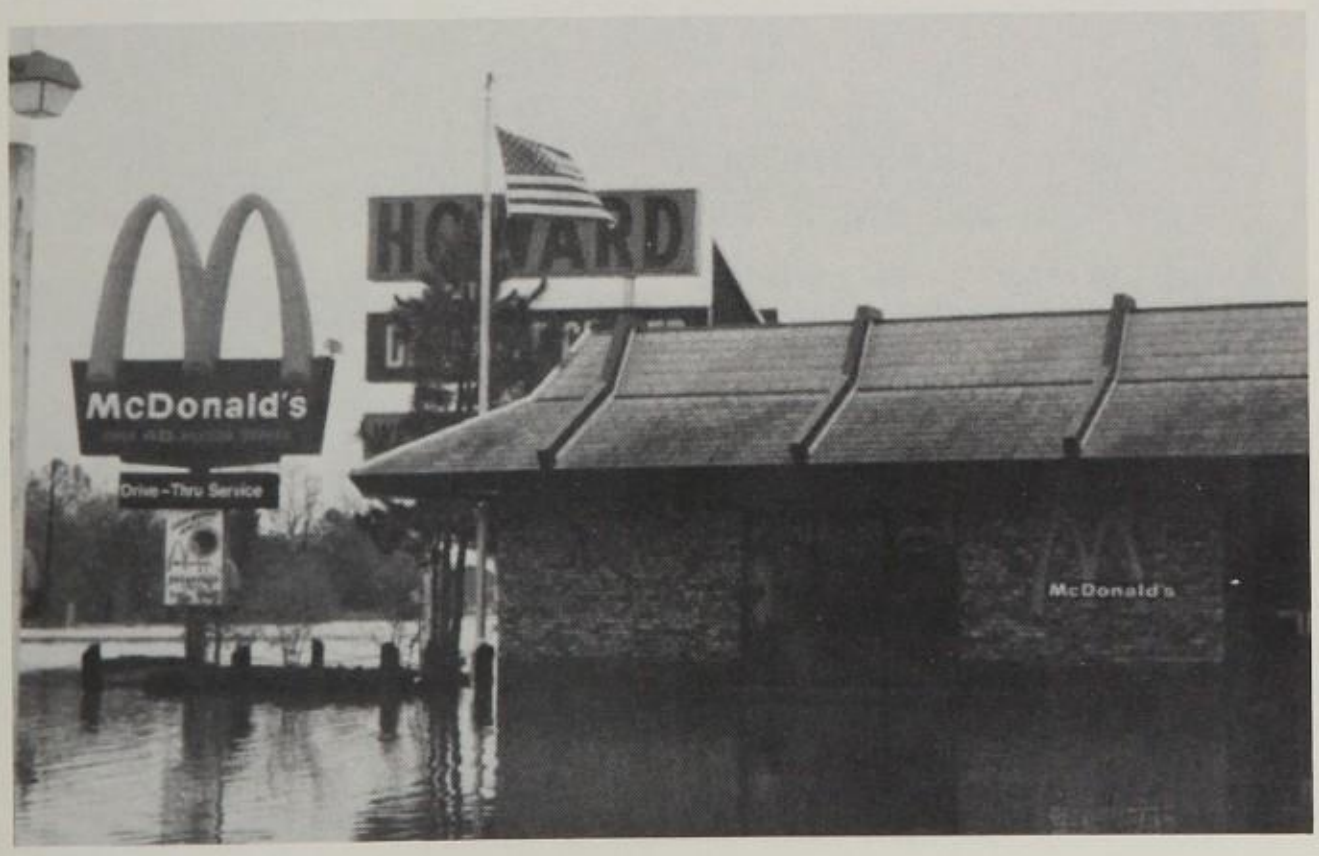


The latter part of the school year brought about a very hectic conclusion. Many students looked forward only to the day when they could close their textbooks for the last time and be finished with final exams. Seniors looked forward to the senior trip, prom, and graduation. Club members completed last minute business and money making projects such as the seniors' selling shirts with the new school logo printed on them. All agreed it was time for a rest, though many were sad to see the journey of 1982-83 came to an end.

FRESHMEN Rusty Smith and David Norman enjoy the journey.

TANNIE MILLER eagerly leaves class as one more day of the journey comes to an end.

TANGERNIKE HECKARD enthusiastically picks up her senior mug.

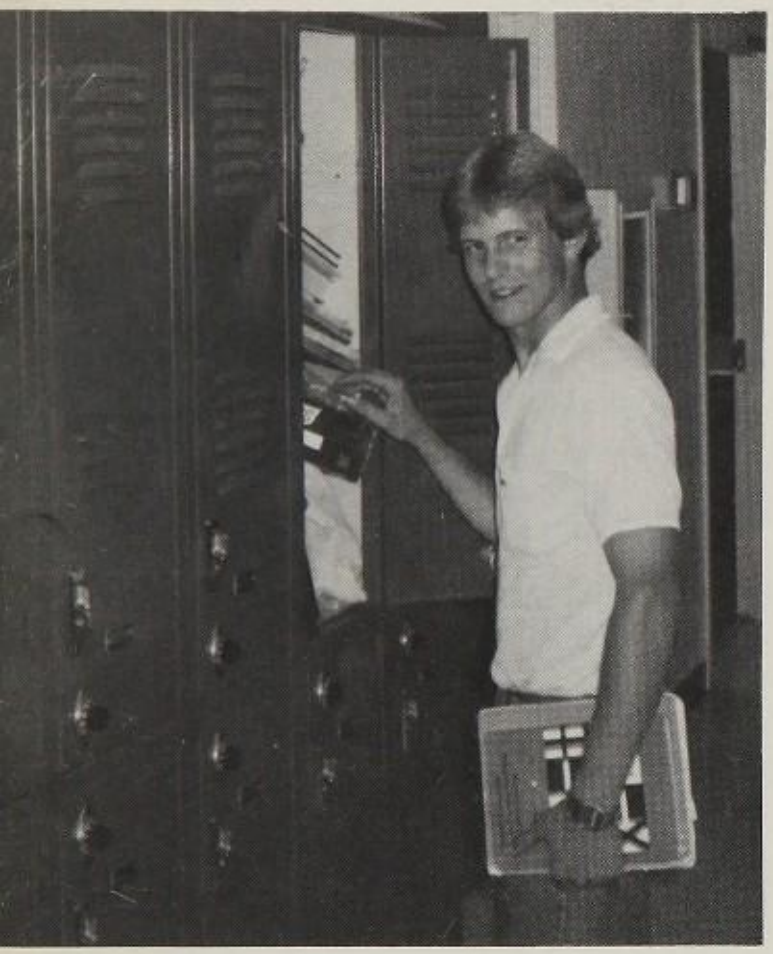


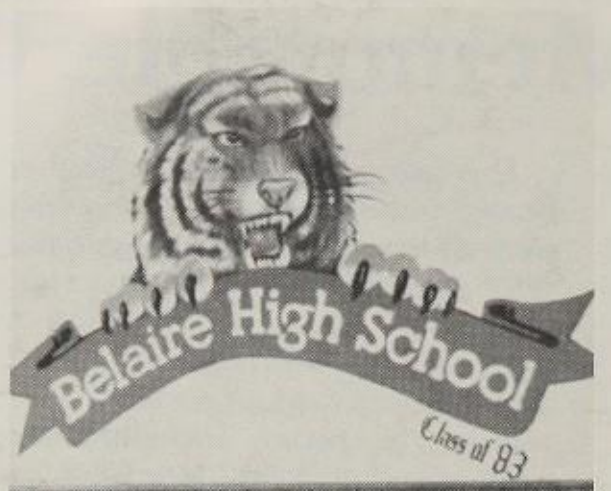
THE JOURNEY WAS MOMENTARILY INTERRUPTED by the great flood of '83.

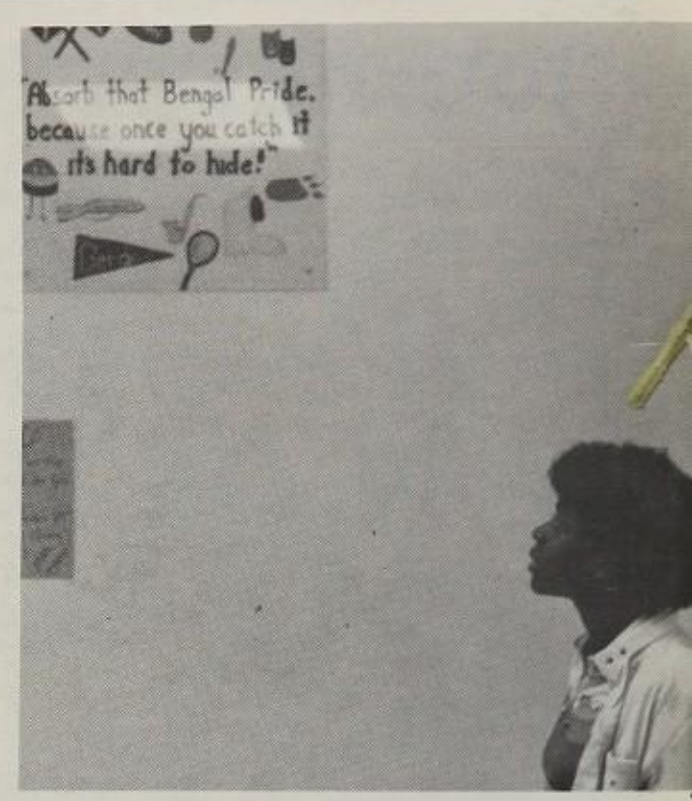
CONVERSING UNDER THE NEW SCHOOL LOGO, drawn by Lance Slaton, are Lori Danehower, Missy Martin, and Michelle Carughi.

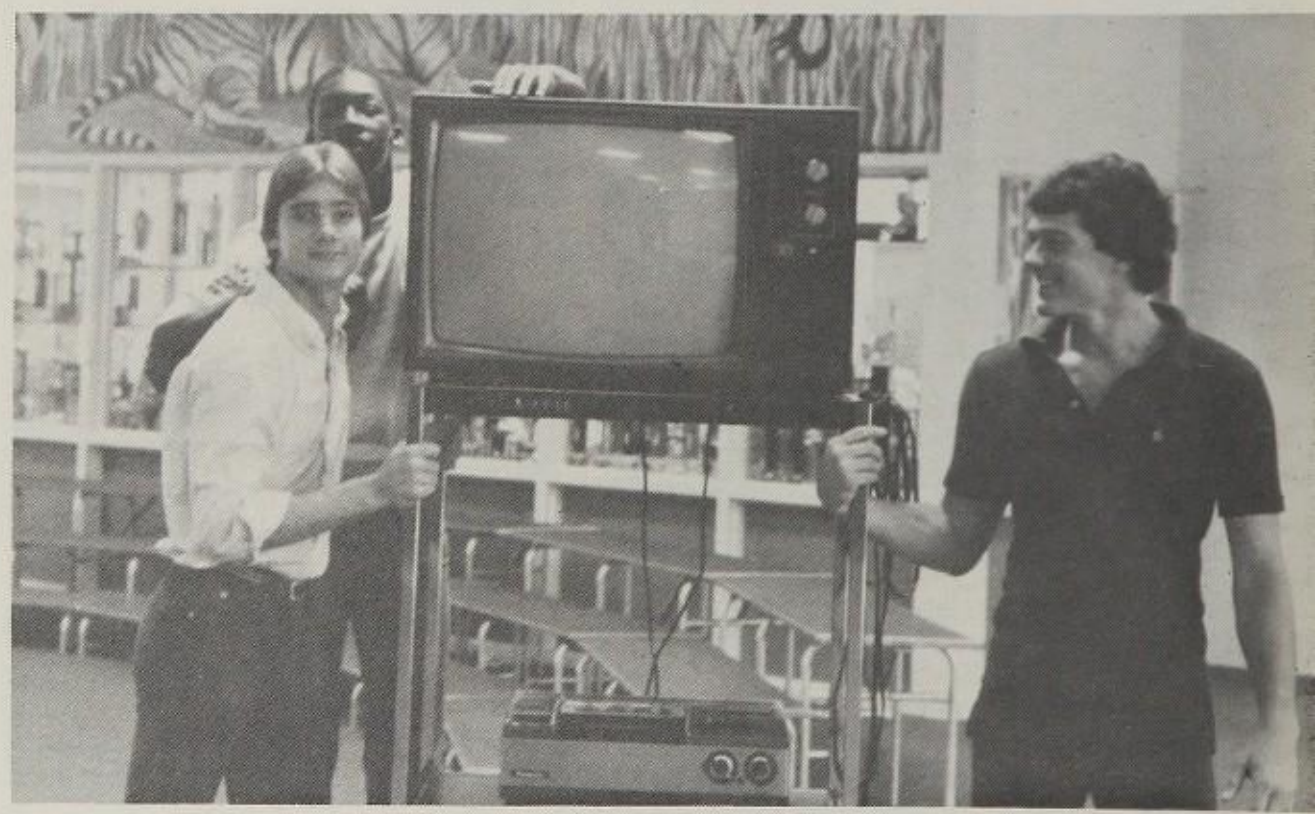
KIMBERLY HAWKINS reflects on her journey through Bengal Land.

AS THE JOURNEY NEARS THE END, lockers such as Tommy Blouin's get very messy.







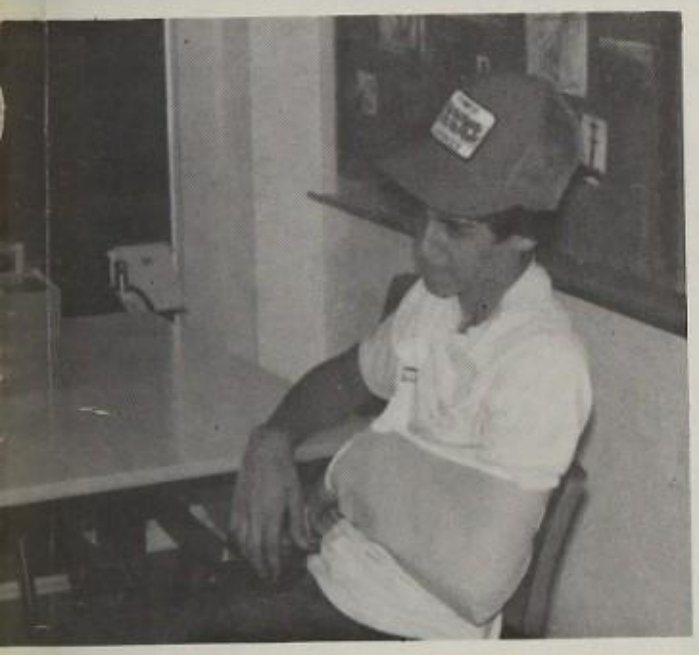


SCOTT CHIDESTER, JAMES JOSEPH, and MIKE SCHUSTER participate in Miss Couvillion's Radio Broadcasting class.

JEFF ARCHER admires the new school logo.

ANDREW NORRIS appears ready for the end of school.

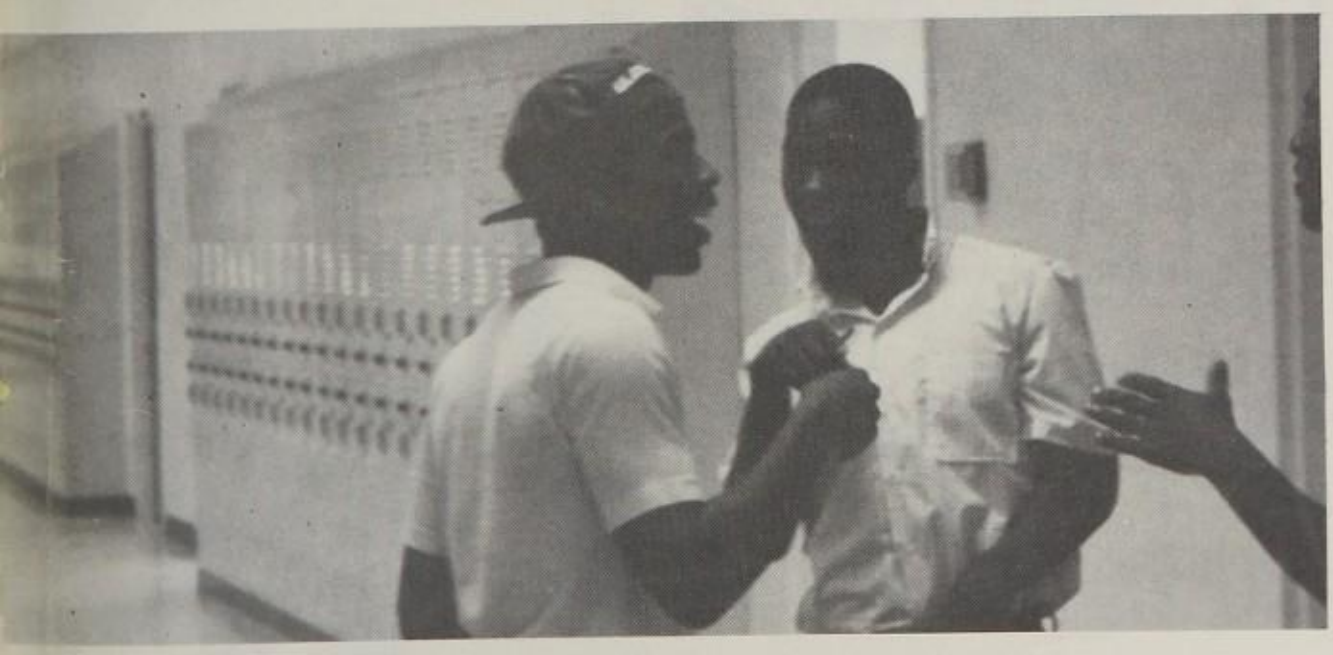
THE JOURNEY brings together many friends.



DESPITE DIFFICULTIES, Skipper Gollahon finishes the year.

ASSISTANCE BY MRS. WHITE helps Chauncey Guy to successfully complete the course.

BUBBA SIGNATER and MICHAEL illustrate the happy times of the school year.



Jimmy - Scott - Todd,
Ove known you
for a LONG time.
and I hope to know
you for alot longer.
Stay sweet and lets give "Tony" Hell.

Journey Of 1982-83 Comes To An End

At the end of the school year, the journey of 1982-83 appeared to have been a successful one. The trip through changing school districts, bussing, new learning experiences, meeting new friends, enjoying group activities, and attending athletic events proved to be an enjoyable and memorable experience for most of the students. Though the year brought changes, the students, administrators, faculty, and staff journeyed as one big, happy family through it.

THE CAFETERIA STAFF contribute to school spirit with their Bengal aprons.

HEATHER HANSON and LYNELLE SMITH visit in the front commons.

JIM BALLOW assists Mrs. Sloan, secretary during the second semester.

KAREN TEER takes pictures at Honors Night.

DENA KIRBY and TERRI WALLNER make a move for the door.

Todd,
I'm really glad
I got to met you last year. You are really super sweet & I hope
you stay that way.
Be good & good luck!

Todd,
The next time
You indulge a massive sex ordeal please give me every detail.
I'm sure it would be worth hearing.
Love ya,

T.S. Todd-

"You're a very cute & nice person. Stay ~~that~~ way!!"

Boy, ~~some people~~ put the weirdest ~~things~~ in yearbooks. Christyne as nice, and she just didn't want your parent finding out her you ~~really~~ are at school. I don't go into it either because "your pan" might get angry.

And really deprecated the times we spent together.

"Happy trail"

David Gregor
Chairman of the terminally bored.

Todd,

I've known you for a long time (since 7th grade I think) and I hope that we can stay friends for a lot longer.

Love ya,
Danny
Frenjer Jane

Todd,

We've known each other for quite a few years. It's been great! The next two years will be even better. We'll all agree to drive Mr. Kaufman nuts! Stay sweet & smart. Good luck this school year.

Love ya,

Todd,

To a real sweet, cute guy with a great personality! I'm very glad I got to meet you! Thanks for everything! Sorry about opening night of Oklahoma!

Stay Sweet!

Love Ya!

Robin

Timmy-Scott-Tom
(Did I leave anyone out?) Thanks
You're an alright guy. Thanks for breaking your leg so I could be in that play. Hope your pass Algebra II (H). Good luck in the future!

Dearest Todd
I love you, I love you,
I love you, I do!
But aren't we
excited I love montage
too!
love,
mich

Todd,
Well, what can I say, we've had so much fun in Drama these past years,
Mr. McCain & Mrs. Kaiser, I know we'll have a lot of good times in Drama as juniors. Stay sweet & cute and smart alec as ever -
Love ya,
